Sad Drowning Accident

The death by drowning on Sunday morning of Miss Edith Anderson, daughter of Mr. R. D. Anderson of the Dog Pound, created a feeling of sadness over the whole community when the news was brought into town. It seems that deceased was working for Mr. Weber who lives close to her father's farm and had gone over to visit her father on Sunday morning, only staying for a few moments. She did not return to her employers home and the father becoming uneasy started a search party with the consequence that the body of Miss Anderson was found in the Dog Pound creek which runs close to her father's

Support School Fair

Another event of importance to the whole district will take place in Didsbury on Saturday at the exhibition grounds when the second annual School Fair will be held. The Fair is an exhibition of what the children have accomplished during the past year in their school studies, agriculture etc., and they should receive the whole hearted support of the public in their exhibition. This is an occasion that demands that the public take an active interest by attending an exhibition that is gotten up solely by the school children and is for the purpose of providing good competition and an education amongst the schools in the district. There are thirteen schools in the competition, twelve of which are outside of the town schools, and no High school exhibits are allowed.

Silver Medal Donated

The athletic side of school life is by no means to be neglected and there are a large number of prizes allotted for this purpose; consequently the enthusiasm amongst the boys and girls along this line will no doubt be enthusiastic and will be worth the little time that it will take to attend the exhibition.

Mr. A. C. Fisher, the energetic secretary of the School Fair announces that Mr. Powell, teacher of the Melvin school, offers a silver medal for the boy receiving the most points in sports. The points will be scored as follows: First prize will receive five points, second prize three points and third prize one point.

War Clouds Still Hang Over Europe

The situation in regard to the trouble between Turkey and Great Britain seems to have been overcome for the present by an agreement between the Allies to accede to the National Turkish demands that they be given eastern Thrace to the Maritza river including the ancient Turkish city of Adrianople, the Kemalists to agree not to enter the present neutral zone along the Straits and must accept the ruling of the absolute freedom of the Dardanelles and the Sea of Marmora and Bosphorus preferably under the control of the League of Nations.

Great Britain emphasizes her farm. Miss Anderson was a little over nineteen years of age and is remembered in town as a bright cheery young girl and her sudden death on the threshold if life caused a great feeling of sadness. Dr. J. L. Clarke and Const. Jarman of the A. P. P., Olds was called out but decided an inquest was unnecessary.

The funeral took place from the Memorial church in Didsbury on Tuesday and interment was made in the Didsbury cemetery.

demands that the Dardanelles must be kept open for the use of all nations and is prepared to stand by this demand even if she stands alone.

Premier Lloyd-George this week has put Great Britain's position before the world in a lengthy masterly statement in which he states that the British government emphatically does not want war and the reason for the military actions taken were to stand by the Treaty made with the Turks that the Dardanelles must be free to all nations, showing how important this position was in case of trouble.

The Turkish National forces seem to be hard to control after their bloody successes and the question of war or peace is still a big question.

A conference with the Turk Nationalists is to be held just as soon as possible to try and settle the difficulties that have arisen.

National Land Settlement

In all new countries immigration is a matter of vital national importance, not as immigration becomes a matter of individual and national necessity in other countries with existing populations and a restricted land area.

For a century the United States has been the mecca of the oppressed European emigrant, and the present population of more than one hundred million in which the United States can boast is the direct result of the enormous influx of people to that land. Within the comparatively brief period of four or five generations, the United States has grown from a sparsely settled frontier country into one of the most populous, highly organized and wealthy nations in the world. It no longer offers great inducements to the poor man and his family in Europe who are forced by stress of circumstances at home to seek a new land.

This fact was fully generally recognized some years before the Great War, and in the ten or fifteen years prior to the war the stream of European immigration was increasingly being diverted to the unsettled land areas of Canada. The population of Western Canada increased by leaps and bounds, millions of acres of forested lands were taken up, great colonization companies actively assisted in directing one of thousands of settlers to this country, villages grew into towns, and towns into cities almost overnight, production increased amazingly, thousands of miles of railway were built, and the whole industrial life of the Dominion largely developed and made prosperous.

The outbreak of the Great War put an abrupt and complete stop to all European immigration, while the exhaustion of free homestead lands and the final disposal of these large blocks of lands controlled by colonization companies operated to shut off immigration of agricultural settlers from the United States. Since 1914, therefore, Canadian immigration has been at low ebb, notwithstanding the great need of this Dominion in the matter of population to develop its great wealth of virgin natural resources.

Since the Armistice there has been a steadily growing opinion that Canada must make every endeavor to revive the stream of immigration which was bringing life and prosperity to this country before the war. At the same time it was realized that after the war problems calling for solution made it imperative that such immigration to Canada must be of a type which would help the Dominion and not add to the problems with which the country was confronted.

The situation now is that the population of Great Britain is growing more rapidly than can be provided with means of livelihood there. Emigration on a large scale must take place. On the other hand, the vacant spaces of the world where white people can live and prosper are largely to be found in the British Dominions of Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. It is agreed that it is the part of Empire citizenship to scientifically absorb the emigrating Britishers or to contribute to these outlying parts of the Empire, thus keeping it under his own flag, and at the same time adding to the economic strength of the Motherland and the Dominions.

Therefore, the British Government has decreed what is known as the Overseas Settlement Board and placed at its disposal some hundreds of millions of dollars to assist settlement of people from the British Isles in the overseas British Dominions. Each of the Dominions was invited to develop its own plan of immigration and land settlement and work in cooperation with the Overseas Settlement Board in London, to the end that the maximum number of sturdy immigrants may be settled in the Dominion under conditions guaranteeing reasonable prospects of making a success in life.

Since this age Appellate announced their scheme, and for some months past the stream of British emigration has been steadily directed to our Dominion. In the meantime, and for some months past, the Dominion Government has been studying the whole problem of immigration in its relation to Canada's needs and its best interests. A special committee of the Federal cabinet has been in consultation with the several Provincial governments, railways and communities and individuals vitally interested in, and informed in regard to, the subject of immigration and land settlement.

The result of this intensive and expert study of the problem is found in the announcement made this month by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of Immigration and Colonization, or the Immigration policy of the Government, and to which immediate effect is to be given.

Inasmuch as the carrying out of a successful immigration and land settlement policy is of the utmost importance to every Canadian, and practically to every individual citizen is of prime importance in order to achieve the best results, some attention to the plan evolved will be given in a subsequent article.

Chinese Laundry Ticket Is Nothing But A Number

The Chinese laundry ticket is a simple thing when one understands the system. The Oriental ideograph which is torn in two is no description of the person who has left behind or any other interesting thing. Important Meeting of Passenger Agents in Canadian Rockies

One of the most important of the many conventions being held in Canada this year will be that of the American Association of Traveling Passenger Agents which will take place in the Canadian Pacific Rockies this month. American interest in this country has been growing by leaps and bounds since the war and this is being shown by the steadily increasing number of Americans who are visiting this country. In the Canadian Pacific Rockies and in the unexcelled summer resorts of Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces are found splendid attractions for visitors from the United States, and some of the conventions that have come across the line have been of tremendous importance in that they have enabled thousands of America's business leaders to become acquainted with this country and have thus greatly encouraged the development of trade mutually profitable to Canada and their native land.

The holding of the annual convention of the passenger agents in Canada this year is a matter of first-rate importance to this country, and not only so to those states which will be visited during the tour of the country, but also those in connection with the convention. These agents are all the time in touch with travel agents, and they are in a position to direct much traffic along those lines they believe to be desirable. Thus it is important that they should be well acquainted with Canada, its tourist attractions, its points of scenic interest, and the opportunities which the country affords.

The Association is made up of passenger representatives of railway and steamship lines on the North American continent and has as honorary members many passenger traffic managers and general passenger agents.

At the convention held at Salt Lake City in September, 1921, an invitation was extended by the Canadian Pacific Railway for the Association to hold their 1922 convention along the lines of the Canadian Pacific. This invitation was enthusiastically and unanimously accepted and from the interest being shown by the members there is no doubt of a record breaking attendance this year.

British's Faith in Big Ships

Great Britain's faith in the capital ship is unshaken. In the House of Commons, Colonel Charles Amery, Financial Secretary to the Admiralty, declared that so far as the British Admiralty was concerned, there was no intention of turning away from the navy of the other countries, an airplane capable of striking one of England's head-quarters by either land or sea.

Government Cream Grading

proaches the government will have to decide on one of three courses:—To drop the system entirely; to keep the graders at their work through the winter; or to lay them off on the understanding that appointments will again be made in the spring of next year.

The government, being a government of, for and by the people, will undoubtedly take its course from representations made to it by the parties, organizations and associations interested in the question—in this case the producers as individuals, the same as through their organizations—and the dairy-men's association representing the manufacturers.

However the grading is done (and when the dairy commissioner's office publishes its demonstrated result, it no doubt will be clear that the real grading must be continued), it will be shown that government grading has resulted in better cream, better butter, wider markets, higher total returns for butter and consequently better prices for the cream bought from the farmer, thus completing the circle.

WHAT A COMMA WILL DO

A large printing establishment was organizing its employees for fire prevention. Duties were assigned to each employee so that in case of fire each member of the organization would have his own particular task to perform.

The instructions were written out on small cards and the cards were distributed to the employees.

One of the apprentice boys in the typesetting department got a card that read as follows: "Carry the benzine cans to the fire escape and then report to the foreman."

The lad read it over carefully, reached for his lead pencil, marked a comma after the word "fire," and then took the card back to his foreman and asked for an easier job.

To Holders of Five Year 5½ per cent Canada's Victory Bonds

Issued in 1917 and Maturing 1st December, 1922.

CONVERSION PROPOSALS

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE offers to holders of these bonds who desire to continue their investment in Dominion of Canada securities the privilege of exchanging the maturing bonds for new bonds bearing 5½ per cent interest, payable half yearly, of either of the following classes:—

- (a) Five year bonds, dated 1st November, 1922, to mature 1st November, 1927.
- (b) Ten year bonds, dated 1st November, 1922, to mature 1st November, 1932.

While the maturing bonds will carry interest to 1st December, 1922, the new bonds will commence to earn interest from 1st November, 1922, GIVING A BONUS OF A FULL MONTH'S INTEREST TO THOSE AVAILING THEMSELVES OF THE CONVERSION PRIVILEGE.

This offer is made to holders of the maturing bonds and is not open to other investors. The bonds to be issued under this proposal will be substantially of the same character as those which are maturing, except that the exemption from taxation does not apply to the new issue.

Holders of the maturing bonds who wish to avail themselves of this conversion privilege should take their bonds AS EARLY AS POSSIBLE, BUT NOT LATER THAN SEPTEMBER 30th, to a Branch of any Chartered Bank in Canada and receive in exchange an official receipt for the bonds surrendered, containing an undertaking to deliver the corresponding bonds of the new issue.

Holders of maturing fully registered bonds, interest payable by cheque from Ottawa, will receive their December 1 interest cheque as usual. Holders of coupon bonds will detach and retain the last unmaturing coupon before surrendering the bond itself for conversion purposes.

The surrendered bonds will be forwarded by banks to the Minister of Finance at Ottawa, where they will be exchanged for bonds of the new issue, in fully registered, or coupon registered or coupon bearer form carrying interest payable 1st May and 1st November of each year of the duration of the loan, the first interest payment accruing and payable 1st May, 1923. Bonds of the new issue will be sent to the banks for delivery immediately after the receipt of the surrendered bonds.

The bonds of the maturing issue which are not converted under this proposal will be paid off in cash on the 1st December, 1922.

WEDNESDAY, SEP. 27th, 1922.

It would be a hard matter to find out how many farmers would subscribe to the opinion that under present circumstances "it might be a good thing for the farmer if another war should commence as prices for their products would materially increase" as was asserted by a gentleman who was not a farmer to another person last week. It is to be very greatly doubted that the farmers generally would want another war even though it would be the means of increasing their revenue. As individuals they are just as human as other people and the horrors of the last big war are still fresh in their minds. We believe that no matter how it might put a few more dollars in his pocket they are as emphatically against another war, unless it is absolutely unavoidable, as the next man and as far as making extra money out of such a calamity they realize as well as any of us that while money might be easier for a short time that war is an economic waste and has to be paid for eventually as we are experiencing now through high taxation. No we do not believe that the farmers want another war for any monetary consideration.

other war for any monetary consideration.

The Minister of Finance is offering, on attractive terms, to exchange Victory Bonds maturing December 1, 1922, for new bonds bearing the same rate of interest and running for a further period of either five or ten years. As an extra inducement a bonus of a full month's interest is given to those accepting the offer which is open until September 30th.

The Minister's proposals carry us back to the grim war days of 1917 when these bonds were first put out. Under the impetus of the patriotic appeal and the intensive campaign of the first Victory Loan Organization the issue was successful to a degree that the most optimistic had dared to anticipate. Literally hundreds of thousands of Canadians became for the first time, investors in bonds—a result of tremendous importance to the country as well as to the investors themselves. Accumulated savings were invested and surplus earnings for many months ahead were pledged, calling for a very practical response to the "Save and Serve" appeal of the then Minister of Finance.

The 1922 maturity was particularly favoured by small investors and, even as it was important to Canada that they should have subscribed in the first instance, so it is desirable now from a national as well as a personal standpoint that their investment should continue.

It would indeed be regrettable if any considerable number of the holders of bonds subscribed to under these circumstances should pass over the Minister's offer with the idea of using the money at maturity for less sound investments or unnecessary expenditure.

Invested in Dominion securities the money is safe, and the interest returns sure and profitable. The Minister makes a generous concession to home investors, as a large issue of Dominion bonds were floated in New York last April at 5 per cent.

It is hoped, and anticipated that there will be a large percentage of re-investors from the ranks of the small investors who purchased bonds for the first time in 1917.

Government Cream Grading

BETTER BUTTER, BETTER PRICE, WIDER MARKETS. RESULT FROM GOVERNMENT CREAM GRADING

If Standard of Grading is not kept up, it Means a Possible Return to Unrestricted Competition Between Creameries and Falling Off of Quality

The butter manufacturing business in Alberta is going through a period of transition this season (1922). This alteration of conditions is due to two factors: First, the closing of the cream buying stations on May 1, 1922, by provincial legislation; second, the institution of government grading of creameries by provincial cream graders. The appointments to this service were made under order-in-council.

The new factors in the creamery business then, are the elimination of the cream buying stations, involving a change from indirect shipping of cream to direct shipping, and the taking of the grading of the cream out of the hands of the creameries entirely, and putting it into the hands of independent unprejudiced graders employed by the government.

Why did the government find it necessary to close the buying stations? And why did it appoint cream graders?

To answer these questions in their order it is necessary first to quote a few statistics showing the different percentages of the several grades of butter graded by the government from 1917 to 1922.

Year	Specs	1sts	2nds	Grade
1918	56.3	36.3	6.7	7
1918	50.4	38.6	10.3	5
1919	29.7	59.8	18.9	0
1920	19.0	55.6	24.7	4
1921	7.7	66.7	24.7	7

These figures are quoted from an official statement issued by the department of agriculture early in 1922. The vital point to notice in these figures is the drop on "specials" from 56.3 per cent. to 7.7 per cent. in five years.

Cause of Deterioration

We are assured by the department that the mechanical work on the part of the creameries kept up to standard these years. Consequently it is necessary to look further back to find the cause of the deterioration of the grade of butter produced. In fact, back to the producer of the cream which went into the butter. The conclusion is presented then, that the farmer ceased to take proper care of his cream, in increasing ratio, from 1917 to 1921.

On the face of it the farmer is to blame for the condition of affairs as they were in the fall of 1921.

But was the farmer to blame directly or was he to blame indirectly?

Is it not a fact that as cream buying stations grew in numbers, and as the volume of the cream they handled increased from year to year, an irrational and unconsidered competition broke out among the different operatives, who in their anxiety to secure volume of production practically ceased to grade cream which came into the creameries and into the buying stations?

If this is admitted, can the producer fairly be blamed for becoming careless of the condition of his product when he knew he could get an apparent superior price for an inferior cream? The condition was brought about by the operatives, and the producer naturally took advantage of the condition, not being well enough posted in the economic consequences involved in the marketing of butter from low grade cream. The creameries on the other hand, were in a position to realize these consequences. That was their business.

Seriousness of Situation

The butter manufacturers, apparently quite alive to the seriousness of the situation, and also being uncertain of their ability to rectify it by agreement amongst themselves, resolved at their convention held at Red Deer last winter to request the provincial government to eliminate the buying stations, and take over the cream grading at the creameries.

This the government did, the work of organization and subsequent arrangement falling to the dairy commissioners' branch of the department of agriculture.

That the system of gathering the cream and having the grading done independently as outlined above, is accomplishing what was intended is conceded by most of the manufacturers. This year there has been a very marked improvement in the quality of the cream and a corresponding improvement in the quality of the butter turned out. Particularly is this so at those points where the grading for pasteurizing vats is permitted to follow approximately the grading as done by the provincial graders.

Official figures demonstrating the point are not available yet, but no doubt will be published at the end of the season by the dairy commissioner.

Appointment of Graders

Since the inauguration of the grading service in May last was by nature of an experiment, the appointments of the graders were made for a period of five or six months only and will, in case of the discontinuance of the system, expire at the end of September or October.

As the end of the season approaches

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 25 leading universities and found to be superior to ordinary oil lamps. It burns without smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent. air and 6 per cent. kerosene kerosene (usually).

The inventor, T. V. Johnson, 578 McTear Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. He asks him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

MY CANADA

— BY —
ELINOR MARSH ELLIOT

Published by Special Arrangement with the Author

"When I awoke this morning my excitement seemed childish in the extreme, so I went down to breakfast determined to act as if I would rather be made fun of than not. I had expected to see Lee in a dress—but Mr. Livingston was not so crude in his notions as to do the thing that is expected of him.

"The disturbance of my peace was on his best behavior, and I immediately returned to the conclusion that he had decided to turn over a new leaf. At the breakfast table he revealed himself to Sunny. I like to watch him when he is with her; he has the maximum gift of being able to talk to children without talking down to them, and Sunny adores him.

"So when he asked me, as we rose from the table if I would go on a ride with him I accepted most graciously, and hurried upstairs to get into the disheveled riding habit.

"Sunny came up with me, and it was lucky that she did so, for I wanted ten minutes' holding for one of my boots, and was just on the point of borrowing Mrs. Bingham's when Sunny had her own.

"What a splendid ride! I remember Mr. and Thomas were playing polo in their coats, and I just took one of your boots cause Mother's weren't high enough—Thomas left right out of them."

"Where is the boot now?" I asked as calmly as I could.

"Very well," he blazed. (He has a temper, evidently.) "I shall certainly not trouble you with it again."

And that was our last word. I don't suppose he will ask me to ride with him until I make the first move, and I have vowed solemnly not to be even with him if he endeavor fills the rest of my days.

Indoor Life

Spending more time indoors makes women far more subject to nervous than men.

The liver becomes sluggish and torpid, the bowels constipated and the system poisoned by impurities.

If you would get away from the myriads of ills which result from constipation, it is only necessary to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The benefits from their use are as lasting as they are prompt and certain.

Mrs. John Barry, 18, St. Annable Street, Quebec, Que., writes:

"This is to certify that I was troubled for years with constipation and tried all kinds of medicines without relief. At last my husband suggested that I use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and must say that I have gained no more relief than all the others. I have taken during the last fifteen days. I may also add that I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills with excellent results."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25c a box, all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

"I'll go and see," announced the culprit, not in the least disconcerted, and in a minute she returned with the missing boot.

"It was in Uncle Don's room under a chair," she explained confidentially. "Thomas turned away from me and went in there, and I turned in after him and I must have dropped your boot."

Comment seemed useless. Following this, everything I touch seemed to fly. The books and even the shirt all seemed to be missing, and I am a pin into my finger and put blood stains on the dress—table cover. So when I finally went down stairs Mr. Livingston was waiting at the door with the horse.

"You'd better hurry up," cautioned Sunny. "Uncle Don doesn't like to wait."

He says that I like to never keep a gentleman waiting.

All former injuries were forgotten when I saw Mr. Livingston. From head to foot he was clad in irreproachable evening dress. And of course every man on the place "just happened" to be close enough to see us.

My first impulse was to go back to my room and take off my riding clothes, but instantly I realized that this was exactly the course that Mr. Livingston would expect me to follow. I could not see, however, I fear, if I did not wait for his assistance. I pulled myself into the saddle and gave "Good-bye" to the head.

I was around the base of a hill and out of sight of the house before Mr. Livingston caught up with me. He glanced out of the corner of my eye at him and was overjoyed to see that he did not seem to be enjoying the ride as much as he had anticipated, and also to see that one pair of pearls, six gold gloves and one pair of patent leather pumps were on a fair way to destruction.

"You may be sure I let him speak," I said, not very humbly. "I hope I haven't offended you. I only meant this in fun, you know."

"Of course I am not offended," I said, as tactfully as I could. "I enjoy nothing more than to be made the laughing stock of the ranch. I must say that you certainly have a great sense of humor—one which I am powerless to appreciate."

"You'll never be a candidate in general out of this, if you please," he interrupted hotly. "I did not intend to make you the laughing stock of the ranch, and when I try to apologize you talk at least pretend to believe that I am sincere in what I say."

"What about all the men who were standing around?" I asked. "I suppose they are fairly in a state of shock."

"Our men are fairly decent," he answered. "And in all probability, when they see me, they will be in a state of shock."

"You turned the joke on me. I am sure I look absolutely idiotic these days. I wish Mother had kicked me out of the house when I was a little."

But my injured dignity was not to be appeased so easily, and we rode for half an hour without speaking again. Then we turned to come home, and as we reached the house Mr. Livingston said, in a dangerously smooth voice, "You will not accept my apology, then?"

"No," I replied, against my better judgment.

"Very well," he blazed. (He has a temper, evidently.) "I shall certainly not trouble you with it again."

And that was our last word. I don't suppose he will ask me to ride with him until I make the first move, and I have vowed solemnly not to be even with him if he endeavor fills the rest of my days.

Bar B Ranch, August 24th, 1928

The past ten days have been very quiet and uneventful, but on Monday Mrs. Bingham and Sunny and I were going to Carbon City to do some shopping. Perhaps something worth while recording will happen there.

Mr. Livingston and I are still at daggers drawn. We are painfully polite when we have to speak to each other, but that is not very often, and he is much kinder than he was formerly.

I scarcely see him except during meals, and on some days not even then. He has not so much as mentioned riding since the day of our quarrel—neither have I, and I am determined that he shall speak first, even if I were partly in the wrong.

Even if I were partly in the wrong, I don't want to hurt a man of his type by disciplining him occasionally.

Mrs. Bingham and I ride nearly every day, so I have not been without exercise. Mr. Page joined us one day last week. His riding clothes are quite as correct in cut as the dress-cut suits so admired Mr. Bingham's.

Why, why will men wear these ridiculous suits of the type especially I always came to me that a brown suit throws into high relief all that is in a man of the world, the flesh, and the devil. I would rather see Mr. Page at the polo than on horse back. I wonder when he looks after his business.

In the intervals between changing his clothes, I suppose I have just had a very amusing letter from Mother. In reply to the last one I wrote to her before leaving Winnipeg. I had just heard about the death of her duck chicken.

She advises me to buy a small revolver, and she has a distinct feeling for her of firearms. I have to use it and carry it with me night and day. The general impression she has gained from my letter seems to be that Southern Alberta is inhabited with "bad men" and wild, very wild, in other words, I should not have

IS YOUR NOSE PLUGGED? HAVE YOU CATARRH?

If Subject to Colds, Here is Real Good Advice

Don't lead your stomach with colds. Send feeling, medication through the nostrils—send it into the passages that are subject to colds and catarrh. Easy to do this with CATARRHIZONE, which helps a cold in ten minutes. Even to the lungs goes the healing vapor of Catarrhizone—all through the bronchial tubes, nostrils and air passages—everywhere a trace of disease remains will Catarrhizone follow. You'll not have colds, nor will you suffer from sniffles, bronchitis, or throat trouble if Catarrhizone is used. Get it today but beware of dangerous substitutes meant to deceive you for genuine Catarrhizone. Large size, two months' treatment, costs $1.00, small size 5c, sample size 25c, all dealers or the Catarrhizone Co., Montreal.

mentioned the Receiver, and she wonders that a person of Mrs. Bingham's evident refinement can content herself in such a place. I think my first letter from the ranch would reassure her, and I am sure that my description of Mr. Page will be of help.

Mother also tells me that in the same mail with my "amazing" letter was one from Father from Mr. Harford, and that Father is badly gratified by the renewal of their acquaintance. And her letter ends with a lengthy explanation of the way in which Mr. Harford is connected with several "very good families."

Giant Airplane Engines

British Government Has Ordered Six Of 1,000 Horsepower

A big development in the use of airplane engines is predicted as a result of the plans the British Government. These engines, six of which have been ordered, are of 1,000 horsepower and capable of 1,800 revolutions a minute.

The statement is made that the new airplanes will have a range of 2,500 to 3,000 miles, but the Air Ministry explains the range depends in great measure on the type of machine to which the engine is fitted and on the purpose for which the machine is intended. The new engine was designed and built by the Messrs. Napier and was the outcome of several years' experiment and research. It has six ten cylinders and has run satisfactorily for thirty consecutive hours on a bench. Its weight is about three pounds per horsepower.

Timber Lost Through Fires

No Railway Can Long Withstand the Loss of Forests

"Every forest fire that broke out within five miles of the Canadian National lines this summer wrote away some of the immediate or potential traffic and delayed to that degree the financial buoyancy of the public-owned system," stated C. Price Green, Chief Commissioner of Industries and Resources of the Canadian National Railways in an interview.

"A large mileage of the Canadian National runs through natural timber growing lands which can never produce any other marketable crop than timber. At the same time, these wooded regions are generators of tourist traffic and account for the rapidly expanding number of visitors from the United States travelling on our lines, as well as for the great volume of recreational travel on the part of Canadians. The security of the forests, therefore is absolutely vital to the cohesiveness of any railway system in this Dominion.

"The destruction of forests by fire this year was not the worst of the railways, as the current reports will prove, but of fishermen, campers, set hunters and woods' travellers generally. It is the careless citizen, himself, a shareholder in the Canadian National, who can wreck or maintain these forest regions, and so essential to our national prosperity and the successful operation of the public-owned railway system."

Securing a Patent in Canada

Useful Advice Is Given For Benefit of

Intending Applicants. Applications for patents in Canada should be addressed to the Commissioner of Patents, Ottawa, Ont. The term for duration of a patent is limited to eighteen years. The fee for a patent for the full term of fifteen years is thirty-five dollars, of which fifteen dollars is payable on filing the application and twenty dollars on the grant of the patent. Any intending applicant for a patent who has not yet finished his invention and is in fear of being doctored by his own may file in the Patent Office a description of his invention so far, with or without plans, when the Commissioner, on payment of a fee of $5, causes the document, which is called a caveat, to be preserved in secrecy; but the secrecy of the document ceases when the applicant obtains a patent for his invention.

"DR. FOWLER'S"

Saved The Lives Of Four Children

Diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera, infantum and summer complaint are responsible for more deaths, especially among children, during the summer months than any other cause of disease. According to statistics, in the City of Toronto alone, in the past five years out of 1,000 deaths of children, from diarrhoea, 757 died during the four summer months. It therefore behooves every mother to look after her children on the first sign of any looseness of the bowels by using Dr. Fowler's Kidney-Liver Pills. In the last five years, Dr. Fowler's Kidney-Liver Pills have saved the lives of four children when all other remedies failed. It is a simple, safe, reliable remedy. I will always recommend it, and now always have a bottle on hand in case of emergency.

Germany's Printing Presses

People have been looking unnecessarily for an explanation of the rapid slump of the German bank. This fall was due in part to the fact that notes to the value of £200,000,000 were put in circulation in a single week, and in part to the fact that the notes would be printed in the immediate future.

Compared with these factors, the political factors are almost negligible.—London Sunday Pictorial.

W.C.T.U. Convention

The tenth annual Provincial Convention of the W. C. T. U. was held in Calgary from September 20th to 22nd.

The opening consecration service was led by Mrs. Rev. Bingham, her subject being "Prayer". The convention was called to order by the President Mrs. McKinney. The provincial officers and fifty two delegates answered to roll call. After appointment of different committees and report of department superintendents, Mrs. McKinney gave her annual address. She spoke of the convention as being the one in the eight years since the organization of the W. C. T. U. in Alberta. A fifty per cent. gain in membership is the objective for the coming year. She urged all unions to work for world wide prohibition as no nation can enforce prohibitionary laws when surrounded by wet territory. To gain this end we must carry on a campaign of education ever keeping true to the old watchword, Organize and Educate.

After adjournment of the first session the delegates were treated to a delightful auto ride around the city, which was greatly appreciated. At six o'clock a banquet was tendered the convention by the Calgary federate unions, Mrs. Houlton acting as hostess.

At 8:30 o'clock Mrs. Emily Murphy, Judge of Juvenile Court of Edmonton, addressed a large and attentive audience on, "Enforcement of Law as it Pertains to Opium and Narcotics Act." She has made a thorough study of the subject and personal right, but the cause of temperance is winning out. Thursday evening was given over to the Grand Gold Medal contest, of the six contestants, Miss Leona Johnson was winner of the Medal.

The results of the election of officers on Friday morning were: President, Mrs. L. C. McKinney; Vice President, Mrs. C. Gainer; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. T. G. McArthur; Recording Secretary, Mrs. E. G. Forbes; Treasurer, Mrs. J. J. Poole. The superintendents of the twenty-two different departments of work each gave encouraging reports. Didsbury reported good work done in a number of departments also being instrumental in the organization of Jiltland union.

Other interesting events of the convention were the ceremonies of making a Little White Ribboner of baby Ruby Leah Tugle who, with her mother, Mrs. J. Tugle attended every session and the presentation of a silver vase to Mrs. C. G. Craig of Olds who after 14 years of efficient service as treasurer has resigned. Mrs. McKinney formally closed the tenth annual convention and each delegate returned home inspired to work with new interest and inspiration.
